CedarCrestone Awarded the 2008 “The SOA and Integration Solution” Oracle North America Titan Award

San Francisco, CA – September 22, 2008 – CedarCrestone is honored to be selected as Oracle’s 2008 recipient of “The SOA and Integration Solution” award presented at the Oracle North America Titan Award ceremony at Oracle OpenWorld last night. The award acknowledges an Oracle partner that has shown exemplary demonstration of their Service Oriented Architecture (SOA) expertise through a customized and unique solution enabling measured customer return on investment and clear satisfaction. Titan Awards were given to 14 leading partners in 17 categories for solutions and best practices delivered in fiscal 2008. Honorees were judged by a panel of 66 expert judges.

CedarCrestone, a Certified Advantage Partner in the Oracle® PartnerNetwork, chose to highlight one of their Higher Education clients in their nomination for the Titan Award. The project provided a complete and scalable solution enabling the client to utilize new government education financing to its 120,000 adult students. The solution incorporated Oracle’s PeopleSoft, Oracle JDeveloper, and the core components of Oracle Fusion Middleware architecture. Completed in four months, the project resulted in the customer being able to provide its students with access to millions of dollars of government funding enabling them to continue their education.

"This year we received a record breaking number of nominations for the Titan Award. The fifth annual Oracle North American Titan Awards recognizes the innovative solutions and exceptional business achievements of partners within the Oracle PartnerNetwork. As ‘The SOA and Integration Solution’ award recipient this year, CedarCrestone has demonstrated their expertise in Oracle Service-Oriented Architecture, developing a complete and measurable solution, and differentiating themselves from a strong group of partners," said Ted Bereswill, senior vice president, North America Alliances and Channels at Oracle.

“As a trusted advisor to the Oracle community, CedarCrestone is committed to continually developing tailored solutions which empower our clients and provide the highest return on investment. We are proud to receive recognition from Oracle for our solution and look forward to our future in the Oracle PartnerNetwork.” said Cal Yonker, CEO and President of CedarCrestone. “It is with great honor that we receive the 2008 ‘The SOA and Integration Solution’ Titan Award.”

Accepting the award at the Oracle PartnerNetwork Forum reception in San Francisco on September 21 was Chris Judson, Vince Salvato, and Todd Edge.
